Iron and Steel

The Canadian public knows, and admires, the successful struggle against food shortages in which prairie farmers have been, and still are, engaged.

For people, however, know that but for the patriotism of farmers in the west, some steel mills in the east might have been unable to carry on last winter. About the 1st of July, 1942, a system for collecting scrap iron and steel by country elevator agents was organized. All elevator systems have been engaged in the work. Thanks to the willing response of farmers and the enterprise of elevator agents, 3,200 cars of scrap have been shipped with a total of about 130,000 tons of metal. 40,000 tons remain in dumps at various shipping points. This is because it has been necessary, until recently, to assemble at least 25 tons at a point before loading. Now, however, two stop-overs are allowed in order to make up a carload and, as a result, the local piles of less than carload lots will soon disappear.

This is no time to relax, because the need for scrap iron and steel is urgent. It is estimated that 65,000 tons are still available on farms. The importance of getting this delivered and shipped is very great. Farmers will be paid $7.00 per ton for scrap delivered to local elevator purchasing agents. Heavy stuff, such as steam engines, heavy tractors, etc., is worth $4.50 per ton on the farm. It will be cut up and removed by the cutter crew. Any farmer having heavy scrap which requires the cutter crew should immediately notify the elevator purchasing agent.

The government has publicly acknowledged the achievements of farmers and elevator agents—but requires more scrap urgently. To delay is to postpone final victory.

Mrs. Targett and son Bryan left last week for Vancouver where they will spend a vacation with relatives.

Miss Margarite Hittle arrived here Saturday and will spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hittle on the farm.

Mrs. Geo. Hutchison and son Bruce, motored to Oyen on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. King also Mrs. P. Seeger motored to Calgary last week where they attended the Stampede. Mrs. Seeger visited with her daughter, Mrs. Morrison. They met Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson of Haines, formerly of Calgary.

Mrs. D. Anderson arrived from Calgary Saturday morning, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Giddard and little son Cyril of Calgary.

Frost Damages

Garden Crops

OKOTOKS, July 17.—Facts were long till the rains came, then everyone was beaming. Now once more, chins have taken a drop. This time it's frost.

West of Okotoks, in the Sandstone district, frost enough to do serious damage to the gardens, has been reported. Farmers along the Turner Valley road say their gardens have been frosted, too, enough to have seriously damaged the tender vegetables crops, such as beans, cucumbers, etc. From Aldersyde come reports of very serious frosts. Gardens have been badly damaged. Even the potatoes are frozen black.

The town of Okotoks itself, has not been hit, although although temperatures have dropped dangerously low on several nights.

A number from Chinook attended Oyen Sports on Wednesday afternoon.

Quite a number from Chinook took in the Hand Hills Stampede Wednesday.

CHAPTER XII

THE elevator, built for power instead of speed, moved slowly from floor to floor. When they reached the fourth floor, Morgan fingered the bunched keys before permitting Rosta to leave the elevator. "Use this key, and do not delay. It will open Guillermo's door, and we want to get into his room before he suspects who we are and has time to give any warning."

The girl nodded and stepped from the elevator. Still gripping the bound and gagged Rojas, Morgan followed her to the short distance to Guillermo's room. The girl said the key into the lock soundlessly. She turned the key and knob in an almost noiseless motion. Morgan stepped past the girl to push open the door and he first in the room. The room of Don Felix was lighted by a shaded reading lamp. The surprise of the musician was complete. Seated in a comfortable chair near the lamp, he did not look up from his book until Rosta was closing the door, and by that time Chris Morgan was well within the room.

"Don't move, Señor Guillermo, and be quiet," said Morgan, leveling his pistol at the man in the chair. The musician sank back obediently into his chair, and by that time Chris Morgan was well within the room. "Our voices were not loud," he said. "You are not to move, Señor De Nova, call the police on your slight provocation?" Rojas, Don Felix informed De Nova of his presence in this room in the same manner that he told De Nova to follow Diaz and shoot him if necessary. "Yes, the right chest of drawers, tape and gauze, echoed De Nova's laughter, but a little more uncertainly. The man is mad, Captain, as you say."

"Wait!" Rojas eyes narrowed. "Can you prove this, Morgan?" "I can," Morgan nodded. But when he tried to move, De Nova jammed the pistol harder against his ribs. "Stand still, Morgan!" he commanded. "Captain, this man should be taken to jail before he attempts any more tricks. But the police were in the majority in the room. Rojas stepped forward, pushed the manager aside and disarmed him. "Go ahead, Morgan," the captain said briefly. "Let's get to the bottom of this thing. This affair does not look right to me. All eyes were on the manager as he approached Guillermo's violin. But instead of touching the instrument, he laid his hand on the manager's shoulder with a heave that scattered plaster over the floor, tore the entire structure from the wall. The violin fell, and the manager holding the rack frame.

"You see, Captain," said Morgan, touching a thin wire that ran from the rack into the broken plaster of the wall. "A dictaphone... which you will undoubtedly find in De Nova's office. The weight of the violin disconnected the circuit, but when the violin was lifted, anything said in this room would be recorded on the machine below."

"I see," Rojas nodded. "But... this will prove only that Guillermo told De Nova you were here. After all, you threatened him, and he had the right to summon assistance. This

Army Smartens Up Men's Battle Dress - Black Ties Okay

Authority is now granted other ranks of the Canadian Army in Home War Establishments to wear black ties with battle dress when off duty. Hitherto, regulations demanded that battle dress collars be buttoned at all times and ties could only be worn with walking-out uniforms.

Black tie goes

... with battle blouse.

Army authorities explained that the wearing of ties with battle dress permitted soldiers to adopt a more "dressed up" appearance without having to change into the walking-out uniforms. Soldiers coming off guard duty and others whose duties might on occasion curtail off-duty hours will now be able to slip off to dances or other social events without losing time to change clothes.

Walking-out uniforms will continue to be worn of course, and the new authorization was introduced for the benefit of men generally.

does not free you from the murder charges."

Morgan smiled. "Remember O Sole Mio, Captain, that Guillermo played for you? A code message preceded that also. Instructions to De Nova to find Diaz, the fingerprint man, and take whatever steps necessary to conceal the truth about Colonel Velasquez's death. O Sole Mio is a short piece, and De Nova was in a great hurry when he heard it; he had no time to remove or change the record. It is possible that O Sole Mio and Humoresque are both on the cylinder for you to hear."

"Dios mio!" With a hoarse shout, De Nova whirled and plunged toward him. But Morgan, who had been watching the manager out of the corner of his eye, sprang also and hooked his foot about the ankle of the fleeing man, causing De Nova to tumble full-length upon the floor. Two policemen pounced upon the sprawled manager and hauled him to his feet.

"What was your hurry, De Nova?" inquired Morgan. "Did you want to smash that record before we had the proof that you were told to kill Diaz?"

"I—!" the manager stammered, his face pallid. "Don Felix is as much to blame as I—and Verde—he grunted. Colonel Velasquez—" "Keep quiet, you idiot!" snarled Morgan. But the manager had been done.

The Home Paper

Four little sheets, its printing smudged and blurred
And yet the old folks read it word for word,
They're living at the Coast—and all they know
Is back there in a land of wind and snow,
That's why they left, they couldn't stand the cold,
For blood runs thin and sluggish when you're old.

And now they sit among their blooming flowers
In solid comfort—yet the summer heats
Drag by that there is nothing much to do,
No baking—when you only cook for two,
You buy the bread—and Dad just never took
To passing long hours with a book.

They love their little garden and the way
The lawn stays green—and in the month of May
The trees flame out like birds to greet the spring
And all the holy bells of heaven ring
Across the lawn where daisies nod their heads
And hold communion in their sunny beds.

Yet when the little old home paper comes
They gloat above it, all the tiny crumbs
Of news they gather up like miser's gold—
Pour over all the paragraphs and hold
The sheets aside and talk with eyes aglow
Of dear old neighbours of the long ago.

For every item is a personal thing,
They know the folks, and so the columns ring
Small bells within their hearts, for they see
The faces of old neighbours tenderly.
And though they go their lonely ways apart
Still they are members of a small town's heart.

TIME BOMBS

People who don't stand for something fall for anything.

We will find the answer for the other nations
when we find it in our own national life.

The new world will come not by chance but by change. And the change will be forced on us by circumstances, or some other fellows' scheme, unless it has its origin in me and you.

Nowadays everybody has a plan, or is in favor of a plan, or is against a plan. What we need are men able and willing to carry out a plan.

Where more men per job are needed the answer easily may be more job per man.

SOLDIER of the SOIL

THIS year the Canadian Farmer urgently needs help. He needs your help to produce the food so necessary for victory. Many thousands of farm workers are serving in the Forces, so that the farmer—the Soldier of the Soil—is short-handed, but short-handed as he is, he is called upon to produce more food than ever before. Food is one of the most powerful weapons of war. Grains, bacon, dairy products, eggs, beef, fruit, vegetables—FOOD to feed our armies, our allies and our people we must have.

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

You may be a school teacher, student, business or professional man, an office or store clerk—no matter what you are, if you have a few hours, days, weeks, or months of free time this summer, you can do your country and the farmer a great and patriotic service by helping out on the farm. You may be inexperienced, but you still can help. You will find work on the farm healthy and congenial. It will give you the satisfaction of feeling that you have brought Victory nearer.

What you should do NOW!

Consult any special local committee or office established to deal with farm labour placements in your city or town; or Write the Director of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Program at the Capital of your province; or Get in touch with your nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.
